THE LEGEND OF DON MUNIO.

OVERTURE.

No. 1.—CHORUS OF HUNTMEN AND RETAINERS.

Early morning. Court yard of Don Munio's castle.
To the field! to the hunt! ye men one and all!
See the East with rosy tints gleaming!
Soon Aurora's bright rays on our weapons will fall,
No battle, no feud doth to-day on us call;
To the field, to the hunt, then, ye brave warriors all,
No time now for sloth or for dreaming.

Ere the rays of the sun shall dispel the night-dew,
From his couch the noble stag wakening,
With steed and with hound will we keep him in view,
Till he fall, a fair prize to our arrow so true;
To horse, then, to horse! ere is gone the night dew,
To the field, to the hunt we are hastening.

And if, midst the chase, we should chance on the foe,
Should near us the Moslem be hiding.
Of strong arms and sharp swords make we here goodly show,
In the dust shall the infidel host be laid low!
Through God, and our leader, who dreads not the foe,
Every danger and fear thus deriding.
To the field, to the hunt, &c.

No. 2.—RECITATIVE AND ARIA. (Soprano.)

*The Castle of Don Munio. Donna Maria alone in her chamber.
Toward sunset.*

RECIT. (a.)

Within my chamber, wrapt in silent musing,
Oppressed with loneliness I sit forlorn.
Now slowly sinks the sun towards the glowing west,
The shadows lengthen, and the birds fly home.

ARIA.

O heart, my heart, expand thy pinions!
And like the birds, soar far away;
Not here, not here are thy dominions,
But near thy lord—there wouldest thou stay.

O absence, absence! source of sorrow,
To her thus doomed to watch and wait,
None can foretell howe'er the morrow
With joy or grief may change our state.

RECIT. (b)

But why should I thus gloomy ponder?
Will not a gracious Heaven protect?
Hath not my lord full oft returned
After repeated absence?

ARIA. (allegro.)

Then cheer thee, my heart! why shouldst thou repine?
To the field the brave warrior must go;
And patiently waiting, seek not to divine
What the future will speedily show.

In chivalrous bearing, in knightly address,
What warrior more honors can claim?
All powerful in combat, most kind in distress,
My own liege—how I cherish thy fame!

Then banish the thought! my own noble knight
Shall return in despite of the foe.
What joy when afar his loved form greets my sight,
And his bugles their welcome shall blow!

No. 3.—THE RESPONSES AND ARIETTA.

Evening. The chapel of the castle. Escobedo, the chaplain, with the women, and such retainers as have not followed their master on his expedition. Conclusion of the vesper service.

ESCOBEDO.

Gloria Patri et Filio, et Spiritui Sancto!

CHORUS.

*Sicut erat in principio, et nunc et semper,
Et in secula seculorum. Amen!*

ESCOBEDO.

Pax vobiscum.

CHORUS.

Et cum Spiritu tuo.

RECIT.

The night hath fallen round us;
We have prayed for our good lord and lady;
Yet ere we part, as is most meet and right,
And as enjoined by Holy Church,
Our voices let us raise in Vesper Song.

ARIETTA.

All other thoughts forsake,
Let each his station take,
Let holy song awake
In accents sweet.

To her let praise be given,
Who for our sins hath striven.
Who, that we be forgiven,
Doth plead for us.

Ave Maria!

No. 4.—CHORUS.

Ave Maria! full of grace!
Mother of sorrows, bow thine ear;
Withhold not thou thy kindly face,
Our supplications deign to hear.

Ave Maria!

Benedicta! blessed maid!
Chosen of women fair and pure,
Support our hearts when sore dismayed,
Let not the world our souls allure.

Ave Maria!

Et Benedictus! wondrous birth
Of Christ our Lord of virgin pure!
Through Him salvation came to earth,
Through thee His aid is ever sure.

Ave Maria!

In hora mortis! when the hour
Of death shall come, our troubles past,
O pray for us that by the power
Of grace we may be saved at last.

Ora pro nobis percatribus!

No. 5.—RECITATIVE AND ARIA. (Bass.)

Morning in the Forest. Don Munio alone.

RECIT.

In circle wide forth have I sent my vassals all.
 Aroused by loud halloo and blast of horn,
 Ere long the frightened stag hither his flight will wend ;
 While 'neath this leafy covert will I take my stand,
 Expectant waiting till the game appear.

In the woods at early morn
 Sweet resound the forest voices,
 Nature seems again new-born.
 And the heart of man rejoices.
 How the forest odors sweet
 Breath their perfumes on the air !
 Blest influence ! thee my soul doth greet,
 Soother of sorrow and of care.
 Strong of arm and cool of nerve
 Must the trusty warrior be.
 Huntsman ! thou, too, must not swerve
 When the game approacheth thee.
 Worthy then of knightly skill
 Is the sport the woods can show,
 When peals the horn from cliff and hill,
 And echo answers faint below.

No. 6.—RECITATIVE.—DON MUNIO.

But hark ! what distant sounds of music fall on my wondering ear.
 In yonder vale, behold a cavalcade approaching, and women too
 Among the train, all gaily decked as for a wedding feast.
 No hostile purpose can their footsteps guide, while yet their Glittering garb proclaims the Moslem ! Ha ! my good sword !
 Here shalt thou win both noble booty and a lordly ransom.
 Sound ! bugle, sound ! with gladsome news my vassals to recall.

No. 7.—CHORUS. (Female Voices.)

Strains of a Moorish march. Females of the Moorish cavalcade singing as they journey.

Birds gaily singing o'er us,
 Haste on the path before us,
 Raising the joyous chorus,
 In praise of Love.
 Ere fall the shades of night,
 O may the marriage rite
 Two faithful hearts unite,
 Sing praise to Love.
 O may kind Heaven defend,
 Until our journey end,
 Freely our song we spend
 In praise of Love.
 Thus safe from every ill,
 Our good lord, Abadil
 In peace shall journey still,
 And win the prize.

No. 8.—CHORUS.

Don Munio's retainers make their appearance from all sides, wholly surrounding the Moors. Ensemble.

DON MUNIO'S FOLLOWERS.

Down with the Moslem ! the hated—detested !
 No longer shall thus our fair land be infested ;
 On warriors all ! draw the sword ! bend the bow !
 For God and Castile ! see yonder the foe !

THE MOORISH WOMEN.

Woe ! woe ! utter woe ! our journey detected,
 By blood-thirsty men is our progress arrested.
 All the hopes fondly raised, in the dust are laid low,
 And captives are we to our bitterest foe.

DON MUNIO.

Captured the Moslem ! the hated—detested !
 The spoil—it is ours—by our good swords arrested !
 We war not with women—each weapon lay low !
 What rejoicing at home when this booty we show !

ABADIL AND CONSTANZA.

Woe ! woe ! utter woe ! etc.

ALL.

Surrounded !
 Confounded !
 No succor.
 No rescue.

To whom { can we } turn ?
 none } can they } turn ?

No. 9.—RECIT. AND ARIA.—ABADIL.

Unarmed, we yield ourselves to force of numbers.
 But heard I not, amidst yon hostile cries,
 The name of Munio ?

DON MUNIO.

'Tis even so—the knight who speaks with you is he,
 What wouldst thou ?

ABADIL.—“THE ENTREATY.”

Hail, O noble Munio !
 On me a boon bestow,
 Known as a generous foe
 To thee I plead.
 Do not my suit disown
 When once our purpose known,
 In thee I trust alone
 To help our need.

My name is Abadil—of princely line,
 And this fair maid of equal high descent,
 To celebrate our marriage at a distant shrine,
 Thither had we this day our footstep bent.
 Take all our gold, our jewels rich and rare
 The ransom of a prince—aye ! ask for more,
 But let not fell dishonor have a share,
 In what sad Fate may have for us in store.

Then, O noble Munio ! etc.

DON MUNIO'S RETAINERS.

(whispering together during the latter part of Abadil's Aria.)

The bride is passing fair,
 Witness her great despair !
 List to the warrior's tale !
 The story seemeth true,
 What will Don Munio do ?
 Can aught avail ?

No. 10.—RECIT. AND INTERMEZZO.—“THE RANSOM.”

Now God forbid that I, a Christian Knight,
 Two loving hearts should force asunder ;
 Though with no hostile purpose ye have come,
 But yet as Moslems captives of my sword,
 Hear this, the ransom I will take.
 Full fourteen days within my castle-gate
 Captive, yet not confined, shall ye abide with me,
 But there your nuptials will we celebrate,
 After which time shall ye indeed go free.
 Haste, herald, haste, unto my lady fair !
 That for our coming she at once prepare.

No. 11.—GENERAL CHORUS OF MOORS AND CHRISTIANS.

Praise to Don Munio !
 What kindness to his foe
 Doth the brave warrior show !
 Let joy abound.

ABADIL AND CONSTANZA.

Away with grief and fear !
 All sorrows disappear,
 Such Knighthood we revere
 Where'er 'tis found.

CHORUS.

Sound, trumpets, sound ! the bridal train preceding,
 Sound, gentle lutes ! Your tale of love revealing,
 Haste on your way, your banners wide displaying,
 To Hymen's feast let there be no delaying.

Praise to Don Munio ! etc.

END OF PART I

PART II.

No. 12.—RECIT. AND ARIA.—ABADIL.

The day preceding the nuptials. A terrace of Don Muni's castle. Sunset. Abadil awaiting Constanza.

The shadows deepen on the castle walls ;
Honored captivity draws near its close.
Soon will the Christian Even-Song
Proclaim the coming of the night,
While on this terrace will I wait

To meet my love.

Patience, O lounging heart! soon is thy trial o'er ;
And the glad morrow's sun shall see Constanza thine!

O thou, my star in darkening night !
O thou, my light to guide my way !
My joy when all around seems bright,
My comfort in the threatening day.

For thee my heart is ever longing,
With love's own grief full sore oppress ;
I think of thee—and tears come thronging,
When thou art present I am blest.

Waft her, O breeze, my tend'rest greeting ;
I hear the chant from chapel near,
The hour draws nigh for our glad meeting,
O come, sweet love, I'm waiting here.

No. 13.—CHORUS.

The chapel choir chanting the Evening-Hymn.

“JESU, DULCIS MEMORIA.”—(Translation.)

Jesu, how sweet the very thought,
That Thou our hearts true joy hast brought,
Honey in sweetness is as naught
To that with which Thy presence fraught.

Jesu, the hope of penitent !
How free to us Thy grace is spent !
Ah ! who can doubt Thy kind intent
To souls which Thee to seek are bent.

O Jesu ! eyermore with Thee,
Be our reward Thy face to see,
And, thro' bright eternity,
Thine shall for aye the glory be. Amen.

No. 14.—DUETT.

Night. The terrace of the castle. The Moorish lovers.

ABADIL AND CONSTANZA.

Dews of the summer-night gently are falling,
Kindly the stars look down from on high ;
Hark in the grove to the nightingale calling !
We are alone—no listener is nigh.

ABADIL.

Constanza ! my loved one ! my bride on the morrow !
Glide swift fleeting hours till the dawn shall appear !
Dispelled are the clouds which but now threatened sorrow,
The bright sun of Hope hath removed every fear.

CONSTANZA.

Dearest ! my dearest ! my thoughts art thou telling :
O welcome the morrow which makes me thy bride !
These tears from mine eyes which now gently are welling,
But show forth the joy which I feel at thy side.

BOTH.

Then while the night-dews gently are falling,
While kindly stars the deep azure adorn,
Hie we to rest—soon cometh the morning,
Farewell, love, farewell !—until the glad morn.

No. 15.—CHORUS.

(The Festivities following the marriage.)

United ! United !
Their sorrows requited,
Behold the happy pair advance !
United ! United !
All are invited
To join the mace of the merry dance.

FEMALE VOICES.

Lead on, lead on in merry, merry dance,
This joyous day should every joyful entrance,
Sing, sing, in happy measure show
The love we bear Don Muni.

MALE VOICES.

Safe through life—secure from ill,
Guard, gracious Heaven, the noble Abadil ;
May joy his wedded state attend,
Crowned with rich blessings to life's end.
United ! United ! etc.

No. 16.—BOLERO, FOR ORCHESTRA.

No. 17.—QUARTETT.—(Unaccompanied.)

The departure of the Moors.

DOÑ MUNIO, DONNA MARIA, ABADIL AND CONSTANZA.

It is the lot of friends to part,

We meet as travellers of a day,
An interchange of heart with heart,

And then each turns and goes his way.

O, human life ! how short thou art,
The joys of friendship well to learn !
No sooner prized than forced apart ;
How hard God's purpose to discern.

And thus we part—we cannot know
How we again perchance may meet.
Whether opposed as foe to foe,
Or as a friend his friend doth greet.

Then, meantime, let us hope and trust
That this our friendship may endure,
May all our purposes be just,
And thus their due reward secure.

Farewell, kind friends, farewell.

No. 18.—DUETT.

A Chamber in the castle. Don Muni and Donna Maria.

DOÑ MUNIO

Once more my royal master's call,
Throughout the land by herald sped,
Summons to him his warriors all,
Again must Moslem blood be shed.

DONNA MARIA

O direful tidings ! must thou go ?
Again from wife and home depart ?
O cruel war ! what bitter woe
Thou bringest to my anxious heart.

DOÑ MUNIO

Stern duty calls ; I must obey !
Though now I feel th' approach of age :
This once—and then with thee I'll stay,
With tend'rest love thy cares assuage.

DONNA MARIA

O wilt thou promise ?

DOÑ MUNIO

Aye, indeed !
But once more would I thee forsake.

DONNA MARIA

Ah why ?

DOÑ MUNIO

That to the Holy Land
A pilgrimage I then might make.

BOTH.

Soon may the Moslem conquered be,
Then shall sweet Peace descend,
And o'er our land, from foes made free,
Dire War shall have an end.

DOÑ MUNIO

Yes, I must go ! his sov'reign's call
Each knight should swift obey,
Far better like a warrior fall
Than craven here to stay.

DONNA MARIA

Yes, thou must go ! thy sov'reign's call
I know thou shouldst obey,
Far better like a warrior fall,
Than craven here to stay.

NO. 19.—BATTLE HYMN. (Male voices.)

The courtyard of the Castle. Gathering of Don Munio's Retainers.

Bring forth the clashing spear and shield!
To-day we seek the battle field,
Before us make the foe to yield,
Great God of Battle!

And if it be our doom to lie
Outstretched beneath some sullen sky,
Receive our souls to Thee on high,
Great God of Battle!

Or if the victory duly won
'Neath Palestine's resplendent sun,
The pilgrim-staff we'll bear.
This we swear!

The Sepulchre of our dear Lord,
That spot of all on earth adored,
To seek, be our first care;
This we swear!

Then teach us how to choose the right,
Thine is the victory, power and might,
Through Thee alone we win the fight,
Great God of Battle!

No. 20.—CHORUS.

The chapel of the Castle. Choir chanting the dirge for the dead.

Requiem aeternam Domine!
Dona eis requiem,
Et lux perpetua luceat eis!

No. 21.—ESCOBEDO, WITH CHORUS.

The chaplain addresses those assembled.

A year hath passed this very day
Since our good Knight did wend his way
To meet the Moslem host.
Ye know the tale so full of woe,
How many a noble head lay low,
And his life, too, was lost.

CHORUS. (Sotto voce.)

Alas! his life was lost!

ESCOBEDO.

'Twas passing strange that thus his end
Should come by hand of former friend,
The noble Abadil.
With vizor closed, all shining steel,
Naught did at first the fact reveal
That Munio was dead.

CHORUS. (Sotto voce.)

Don Munio was dead!

ESCOBEDO.

Fruitless the grief of noble foe,
Fruitless the widow's tears and woe,
For now 'twas all in vain!
With frequent masses for his soul,
O may he soon attain the goal.
Of heavenly bliss above.

Now while we thus assembled are,
A messenger hath come from far
A wondrous tale to tell!

Give heed, and list with bated breath,
Give heed, and learn how e'en in death
A knightly pledge fulfilled.

CHORUS.

What can these words presage?
Right gladly we engage
Attention strict to give.

No. 22.—BODERIGO. The message from Palestine.

RECIT.

Full many a long and weary league,
From Palestine, the sacred land, I come.
Jerusalem, the Holy City,
One year ago a sight most strange beheld;
To make it known to you am I commissioned.

ARIA.

One summer eve, as sank the sun,
While vesper-bells to prayer did call,
Full seventy warriors—one by one,
Drew near the Holy Sepulchre!

All deadly pale, with vizor raised
In silence moved their steady march,
The crowd stood wondering, and gazed
Towards the Holy Sepulchre!

But I myself full well did know
The leader of this knightly band,
It was your own Don Munio
Approached the Holy Sepulchre!

CHORUS. (Excitedly but sotto voce.)

What do we hear! Can this be true
Don Munio was seen by you!

BODERIGO.

They knelt within in silent prayer
After the sacred gates were passed,
Then faded into empty air
Within the Holy Sepulchre!

Rejoice that thus their vow fulfilled,
Even in death their honor proved,
Thus it took place, as God had willed
Before the Holy Sepulchre!

No. 23.—CHORUS. FINALE.

In thankful hymns ascending,
Let all their voices raise,
Jehovah! All protecting!
Accept our grateful praise.

Through Thee their combats ended,
Through Thee fulfilled their vow,
Their honor, safe defended,
Is crowned with victory now.

Glory eternal,
Rapture supernal,
Bliss never ending,
Now hath begun,
Passed the bright portals,
Seraphs immortal
Praises are singing,
Heaven is won!
Alleluia! Alleluia! Alleluia!
Amen!

A musical score page featuring six staves of music. The top two staves are for the piano, with the right hand in treble clef and the left hand in bass clef. The subsequent four staves are for the orchestra, starting with Tromba (B♭) in the first staff, followed by Bassoon (F) in the second, Flute/Clarinet (C) in the third, and Double Bass in the fourth. The music consists of various rhythmic patterns and dynamics, including accents and slurs. Measure numbers 118 through 124 are indicated at the bottom of each staff.

A page of musical notation for two staves, labeled D and E, with a tempo of 120.

The music is written in common time, with a key signature of one sharp (F#). The notation consists of six systems of music, each with two staves. The top staff of each system is in treble clef, and the bottom staff is in bass clef. The music features various note values, including eighth and sixteenth notes, and rests. Measure lines are present between the systems. The label "D" appears above the first system, and "E" appears above the fifth system. The notation is dense and technical, typical of a musical score for piano or organ.

Musical score for two staves (Treble and Bass) across six systems:

- System 1: Treble staff has eighth-note pairs with stems up. Bass staff has eighth-note pairs with stems down.
- System 2: Treble staff has eighth-note pairs with stems up. Bass staff has eighth-note pairs with stems down.
- System 3: Treble staff has eighth-note pairs with stems up. Bass staff has eighth-note pairs with stems down.
- System 4: Treble staff has eighth-note pairs with stems up. Bass staff has eighth-note pairs with stems down. Pedal points are marked with Ped. and an asterisk (*) at measure 121.
- System 5: Treble staff has eighth-note pairs with stems up. Bass staff has eighth-note pairs with stems down. Pedal points are marked with Ped. and an asterisk (*) at measure 122.
- System 6: Treble staff has eighth-note pairs with stems up. Bass staff has eighth-note pairs with stems down. Pedal points are marked with Ped. and an asterisk (*) at measure 123.
- System 7: Treble staff has eighth-note pairs with stems up. Bass staff has eighth-note pairs with stems down.
- System 8: Treble staff has eighth-note pairs with stems up. Bass staff has eighth-note pairs with stems down.
- System 9: Treble staff has eighth-note pairs with stems up. Bass staff has eighth-note pairs with stems down.

The score uses common time and includes various note heads (solid, hollow, etc.) and rests. Measure numbers 121 through 126 are implied by the progression of measures.
